Garments may be arranged by ordering now.

Since to party and to dance

Is the nonlinear stuff we souls are made of.

Non-existent.

If we had not invented a word for emptiness' (say Kafka'), we might have been able to find comfort in it.

We are hypnotized - in a state of eternal superfluence.

We sleep our lives away, oblivious, relative.

Life is more than enough in its emptiness, and we embrace this as a self-evident truth.

We forget to hope, and we long to forget.

We are successful ants, working to live, living to work.

Don't worry, appease, relax - it'll be right as rain.

Content to sleep, to become a buddhist.

To become nothing at all.
